MD goal beaten four times over

BELLE GLADE-Goals set and met became the order of the day(s) Sunday and Monday when what started as a single-club project turned into a community effort and $6,221.28 was gathered and pledged to help beat Muscular Dystrophy.

The event was the annual Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, as the Glades pitched in with the annual national effort to beat the crippling kids' disease.

The place(s) was the Holiday Inn, plus several street corners in town.

The people were the Kiwanians hosting the Holiday Inn "telephone central" lines, the Lions who showed up to help man the phones and who stood out on the street corners soliciting contributions, along with Boy Scouts and individual citizens, who all contributed to the effort.

The goal...well, that kept changing, according to Mel Chaney, of the Glades Kiwanis Club. It was first set at $1,500, the amount collected last year and as the pledges and donations took off Monday afternoon, the goals kept rising with anticipated amounts, finally reaching $4,000, more than $2,000 less than what was actually pledged and collected.

"It was beautiful," Chaney said.

CBers aid KC Fund

BELLE GLADE-The Katherine Price Foundation will benefit from the Glades CB Club's Third Annual Jamboree Saturday, Sept. 16 at the GCI Community Building behind the Glades County Office Complex on US 441 north of town.

The doors will open at 10 a.m. and activities will continue into the night as the jamboree turns into a Country and Western dance at 8 p.m.

Club member Steve Miller, in charge of publicity for the event, said the activities will include a barbecue chicken dinner (donation $2.50), with serving to begin at 2 p.m. and continue until 6 p.m.

During the afternoon, there will be live Country and Western entertainment, "Jamboree Jail", door prize drawings every hour and grand prize drawings.

Miller said tickets for the dance, which begins at 8 and runs "until...it", will cost $5 per couple or $3 for stag with children under 16 getting in free.

"We've always had a good time," he said, "and many compliments. A percentage of our proceeds this time will go to the Katherine Price Foundation."

"Last night (Sunday) was long and there were only three calls from midnight until 6 a.m. but today it's been fun."

"The Kiwanis hosted the telethon at the Holiday Inn," he said, "but we received tremendous support from the (Belle Glade) Lions Club, Boy Scouts and other individuals. We owe them a big thanks and we like to think this was a community effort, not only in Belle Glade but in Canal Point, Pahokee and South Bay."

Chaney estimated 60-70 people cooperated in the telethon and said that, with this year's experience under their belts, he estimated the same kind of effort by the same kin

see Telethon P11

LIONS ROARED too as they collected for the telethon on street corners.

A JERRY LEWIS WATCH was kept and won over Labor Day when Kiwanians James Martin, Gilberto Alvarez and Mel Chaney (they're the ones in back with the big grins, earned by quadrupling their goal) presented a watch with Jerry Lewis' profile on the face to Steve Herring, 11, of 217 Royal Palm Way. Steve won the watch by collecting more MD money ($149.60) than any other volunteer youths.

South Bay OKs most of budget

SOUTH BAY-The City Commission tentatively approved all but the salary schedules of the proposed 1978-79 budget of $1,068,803, which is $8,824 more than last year's total budget.

The commissioners are scheduled to meet in another workshop at 8 p.m. Monday to go over the salaries suggested in the schedules of the various departments and final approval of the proposed budget is slated to take place Sept. 19 during the regular meeting.

Because the budget is slightly larger than last year's, the commission approved a suggestion by financial consultant Don Dillard to retain the millage rate on property taxes at 9.595 mills rather than accepted the property appraiser's certified millage of 9.383, which would have brought the same revenue as last year.

The total budget is divided into two major funds and three minor ones.

The proposed general fund budget totals $522,793, a 17 percent increase over last year's budget. The water and sewer fund budget totals $367,963, an increase of 12 percent.

"Because of the fiscal restraints imposed by the moratoriums on both water and sewer usage," Dillard said in a written budget message to the commission, "it is estimated that the 1978-79 revenue from customers will be about the same as it was in 1977-78."

In order to meet the necessary expenses," he said, "as in the past, it has been necessary to transfer to the water and sewer revenue account $60,000 of utility taxes and $30,163 of Federal Revenue Sharing funds."

Coke gets jail for 3

BELLE GLADE-Three local people were arrested on drug charges in a coordinated sweep by Belle Glade Police and Palm Beach County Sheriff units at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

Police seized approximately $2,000 in cash and $12,000 worth of cocaine, along with several pieces of narcotics paraphernalia in the raid.

Arrested were Nancy Ann Johnson, 21, of 234 SW Fifth St., Apt. 2 on a charge of possession of cocaine with intent to sell. She was booked into the Palm Beach County Jail on $10,000 bond.

Larry Walker, 23, and Audrey Givens, 21, of the same address were charged with possession of cocaine with intent to sell. They were also booked into the county jail under $10,000 bond.

Police Chief D. Bill Mathis said the investigation was headed by Detective T.M. Corderman and agent Mark Weatherington.

Glades may lose detoxification unit

SOUTH BAY-The proposed closing of an alcoholic detoxification center here for lack of funding has disturbed law enforcement officers in the area who say the center has provided a needed service.

"I've written (County Commissioner) Bill Bailey in support of (the center)," Belle Glade Police Chief D. Bill Mathis said Wednesday morning. "They have been tremendously supportive of us."

Mathis said he learned about the possible closing from a letter by Dr. Edward Amos, director of the Florida Farmworkers Council operated Alcohol Rehabilitation Center which serves the entire Glades area.

Amos said the problem is that the proposed Palm Beach County budget for the coming year includes a severe cutback in funding for mental health and alcoholic funding.

"As proposed," Amos said, "the Palm Beach County budget will result in the lay-off of one third of the staff currently in place. Because of the level of proposed funding, seven trained alcohol rehabilitation nursing personnel will have to be laid off effective Sept. 30."

"This reduction in staff will result in the abandonment of the ten-bed Medical Detoxification Unit which has served the Glades since May 1976."

Amos said the unit has served an average of 28 alcoholic individuals per month and

Correction

BELLE GLADE-The Belle Glade Herald erroneously reported last week that a series of hearings for the city's proposed zoning, development and subdivision code ordinances would be held Sept. 7, 13 and 19.

City Manager Robert R. Sanders said the schedule reported was meant to be only a sample and that dates for the hearings have not been set and won't be set until after notices had been mailed to all property owners.

We regret any inconvenience which may have been caused by the misunderstanding.

stirs election turmoil

Edwards is out of race

BELLE GLADE-Group Two City Commission candidate Nathaniel Edwards set speculators in a turmoil Tuesday when he withdrew his name for consideration in Tuesday's city election, saying he was asking his supporters to vote for Aubrey Farmer.

Edwards said at the time he sent a letter to City Clerk June Boglioli Tuesday morning to withdraw from the race that he was backing out of the election after week-long discussions with friends and supporters.

He said he had been told that because he had waited until Aug. 23, the last day of the qualifying period, to throw his name in the ring, many Black voters had already committed themselves to supporting incumbent Ralph Kirk or Farmer.

"I know that without 80 or 90 percent of the Black vote," he said, "I couldn't win the election and I'd just be taking votes away from Farmer. If I withdraw, I think he has a chance to win and I want Kirk out so that's what I'm doing."

Edwards spoke that night during a Belle Glade Jaycee Club-sponsored political rally before a crowd of more than 100 people, saying he'd withdrawn but urging more public involvement in city government. He said nothing at the time about favoring either of the other two Group Two candidates.

Edwards' withdrawal leaves a field of four candidates in two at-large races. Kirk and Farmer, a veteran city politician who was ousted by Claude Tindall from his North Borough seat last year after 14 years on the commission, are in Group Two.

Ralph Kirk, the incumbent, is another veteran of city government with eight years experience on the commission. He said the day he qualified to run for his fifth term that this would be the last time he intends to run for office, win, lose or draw.

In Group One, incumbent Mayor-Commissioner Tom Altman is running for his third two-year term and is facing a challenge by political newcomer Larry Simmons.

The Jaycee political rally Tuesday evening was the first such public forum held during the city election in a number of years. It was held on the front steps of the city hall and was emceed by past Jaycee President Ray Alston.

All four candidates and Edwards were present and were given ten minutes each to speak before a question-and-answer session began.

Between the talks, Alston introduced two other candidates who were given two minutes each to speak. District Two County Commission Democratic candidates Tom Davis and J.W. "Woody" Upthegrove asked for support in their campaigns.

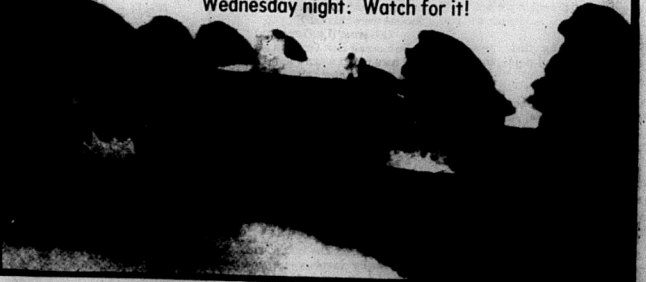

Altman was the first speaker, discussing federally mandated sewer and garbage disposal programs now being discussed by the city commission. He said these are expensive, long-term projects and once the city makes decisions on either program, it will be locked in and won't be able to back out.

Altman went on to discuss the recently approved 35 percent water and sewer rate hike, saying it is essential if the city is to live up to its bond obligations. "Nobody," he

County candidates speak to Kiwanis

BELLE GLADE—Candidates for three county-wide offices had a chance to get some points of their platforms over to members of the Glades Kiwanis Club last week.

The main speaker for the regular club meeting was newly appointed Judge Edward Fine, the only one of three county judges who has opposition. The other two candidates were District 11 Congressional candidate Dan Mica and County Commission Group 2 candidate J.W. "Woody" Upthegrove.

Judge Fine, who was appointed by Governor Reubin Askew recently because of the increasing court load in the county, said he favors capital punishment and predicted it is on its way back in the state of Florida.

He said his experiences at the Florida State Prison in Raiford gave him a greater understanding of the prison system.

Mica, coming off an endorsement the day before by The Village Mutual, a political club at Century Village, told the Kiwanians he knows the people in the Glades area, because he has been visiting the area for ten years as Congressman Paul Rogers' aide for more reasons than looking for votes, and can reflect the Glades residents' in Washington.

Mica said he believed the Village Mutual's endorsement is another indication of his knowledge of the district, and the district residents' knowledge of him.

Upthegrove, a former Glades resident himself, said he knows the area well from having lived here. He said he invented and patented the airboat.

JUDGE EDWARD FINE was welcomed last week as the guest speaker for the Glades Kiwanis Club as he and two other candidates made last-minute appeals for votes.

Rotarians hear from Judge Fine, Scarola

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Rotary Club continued to attract candidates hopeful of winning votes in its meeting Tuesday.

Jack Scarola, candidate for the State Senate, District 28 and Ed Fine, county judge running for retention, were introduced by County Judge Don Adams who explained that because of a mixup in dates, both men were now scheduled to speak.

"With luck," Judge Adams quipped, "you guys will get out of here around three or four this afternoon."

But Scarola spoke only a few minutes, noting that he would be happy to return, with or without the office, later and explain some of the issues he feels are vital in Florida today.

Judge Fine next took the rostrum and noted that he received an endorsement from the Delray Beach News-Journal because he was "concerned with events in the Glades." He said this means other areas of the county also feel the Glades are neglected.

Fine talked about some of the things the court system is trying to reduce the load, including mediation of small claims and a simpler system of punishment for shoplifters.

He said he is watching these experiments in the judicial system with interest and believes they will work well.

Judge Fine also said he believes the county will eventually have to have more judges, including more in the Glades. "You have 35,000 people out here now," he noted. "I anticipate you will have a traffic court later and hopefully, it will be held at night."

Judge Fine said of the 100,000 traffic cases tried last year, a third were from the Glades.

Other things he foresees are mandatory sentences for certain crimes, but in answer to a question, had reservations about how well this would work.

He said he is sure the legislature will enact law to provide mandatory sentences, leaving the discretion of sentence virtually to the prosecutor who will make charges and the defender who can plea bargain.

"It could result in a lot of people going to jail who don't necessarily belong there," said Judge Fine.

Marriage workshop starts this Sunday

BELLE GLADE—Marriages don't just blow up, they go bad slowly. This is the view of one family therapist. After studying hundreds of disturbed families, he recognized two danger signals: basing decisions on feeling, and trying to pin the blame on one's partner.

A Marriage Workshop will examine both dangers when a team of clergymen, supported by a full-time marriage counselor, meets next week. The workshop opens at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Ringland Hall of St. John's Episcopal church, 225 N.W. Ave. H.

The Marriage Workshop is designed to grapple with the issues of family living. It is organized and sponsored by local clergy and laypersons, many of whom have experienced problems in their own marriages.

Marriage counseling is becoming the "in" thing, just as families take vacations and have physical examinations, so they may need emotional and spiritual check-ups. More and more the entire family—not just the parents—gets involved in counseling. If one member hurts, all hurt.

Providing help for the fractured family is the profession of marriage and divorce counselor Frances Gabaldon, one of the team leaders. Director of the Divorce Adjustment Center in West Palm Beach, Mrs. Gabaldon displays a keen sense of concern for her clients. No commitment is required to attend all eight Sunday and Wednesday evenings.

Commitment is the issue. As someone has pointed out, you can't say "I love you. Let's live together," and expect anything lasting.

The workshop begins Sunday, September 10. It will continue every Sunday and Wednesday through October 4. The hour is 7:30 p.m. Baby-sitting will be provided. There will be no charge, no offering, and no donations will be accepted.

He intends to paddle Okeechobee at age 96

No one would think a 96-year-old man would try to paddle the 51-mile length of Lake Okeechobee in a canoe. But R.M. Zimmerman of LaBelle will attempt this fall to make the trip he has made three times before.

Zimmerman plans to paddle from Okeechobee to Belle Glade sometime during November. The exact date and time will depend on the weather, which he says must be clear and calm.

The weather gave him a hard time on his three previous trips.

In 1966 he paddled against a wind that greatly slowed his progress and extended the trip to 28 hours and 10 minutes. The second trip in 1967, was also made in rough weather, which slowed his progress (18:22) and drove waves over the canoe's bow. The wind blew him off course during his third trip in 1969 and caused him to paddle far off course, though still allowing him to make his destination in 14 hours and 57 minutes.

Barring any hitches, Zimmerman hopes to make this November's trip in about 20 hours.

Perfect conditions, he says, would enable him to start at about 6 p.m. and paddle all night with no wind, no rain, "or with just a little north wind" (pushing him from behind).

"It's impossible to run a straight line with a canoe," Zimmerman said. Consequently he will use a compass and light on the shore for navigation.

To get in shape, Zimmerman has been canoeing for four hours each day for the past two months, using a single lightweight paddle he designed and built himself. In other trips, he averaged 22 strokes a minute. This time he is starting at about 20.

He currently keeps his canoe at Port LaBelle, whose personnel have been very helpful, he says.

By October, he hopes to be able to make the trip nonstop. During other trips he drank milk through a tube while paddling and munched chicken or sweet chocolate in between strokes.

Previous trips left him tired but not exhausted.

"I think I could have made it back (to Okeechobee) if I had thought of it," Zimmerman said. "This time if I make it one way I'll be happy."

Just in case he has problems he will have someone accompany him in a motorboat. On the last three trips it was Charles and Gordon Corbin of Belle Glade. The two brothers operate Slim's Fishing Camp on Torry Island.

Zimmerman's adventures on Lake Okeechobee have not been his only claims to fame, and they probably won't be his last.

He went to work at age 15 in a steel foundry near Chicago, then migrated to Canada where he won 33 national championship medals in swimming, diving, canoeing and track events. He also played on championship teams in basketball, hockey, baseball, bowling, football, water polo and war canoeing.

In 1907, he was the first man to shoot the Saint Lawrence River rapids in a canoe, and the first to paddle a canoe from Montreal to Chicago. In 1914 he became the first underwater movie actor in the original filming of "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," which was shot near Highbourne Cay in the Atlantic.

A professional diver by trade,

R. M. ZIMMERMAN

Zimmerman assisted the production of the sequel to that movie, "Mysterious Island," in 1926.

It was while making that film that he saved six lives from the ravaging wind and water of an Atlantic hurricane - the same one that later claimed many lives along Lake Okeechobee near Moore Haven.

Zimmerman explained that he and five other persons had to ride out the storm on a small yacht anchored near a barge used to carry equipment. When the barge threatened to collide with the yacht, Zimmerman swam with gale force winds in extremely rough seas to cut the barge from its mooring. Before he finished, he had broken four ribs.

While Zimmerman was in the hospital, Sam Goldwyn of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer (MGM) studios gave him a token of appreciation - a gold watch - which he still has today.

Its inscription read: Presented to Bob Zimmerman for his heroic swimming, saving six lives and much equipment September 17, 1926.

For 25 years after his retirement in 1934 as a professional diver, Zimmerman travelled the country on a lecture tour. Two years after his lectures on life under the sea began, he was voted the best attraction on the circuit by 30 booking agencies.

During his experiences on the ocean floor, Zimmerman figures he has walked some 14,000 miles. After that, 51 miles across Lake Okeechobee in a canoe would seem but a short trip over the water.

But at 96?

MRS. BETTY ANN BLOOMQUIST

Mrs. Betty Ann Bloomquist, 64, of 100 SW 18th Street, Belle Glade, passed away Saturday, September 2, at Good Samaritan Hospital in West Palm Beach. She is survived by her husband Harry, two daughters and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Bloomquist was a retired Registered Nurse having worked with the Senior Citizens afternoon program in Belle Glade. Mr. Bloomquist is the commercial art teacher at Glades Central High School.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorials be sent to District No. 48 Nurses Scholarship Fund, care of Mrs. Misha Mulbert, 133 NW 16th Street, Belle Glade.

The Darcy Funeral Home in West Palm Beach was in charge of local arrangements. The funeral was handled by the Dawson & Wilcox Funeral Home, 515 W. Wood Street, Decatur, Illinois, 62522.

THE REV. RUDOLPH J. KEYL DELRAY BEACH—Funeral services for the Rev. Rudolph J. Keyl, who traveled to Belle Glade during pioneering years on canal boats to hold services before there was a church in the area, were held Friday, Sept. 1 at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Rev. Keyl is remembered by the pioneer members of the community for his monthly trips to the Glades to hold services at the Chosen School House during the early 1920s. The services were basically nondenominational.

According to local residents, Rev. Keyl is remembered not only for his ability to get his message across to the adults but also to keep the children entertained by his magic tricks.

Belle Glade resident Louis Kirchman said he also remembered another anecdote about Rev. Keyl. Kirchman said his father would give the traveling minister vegetables when he made his monthly trips to the Glades and when Rev. Keyl returned to the coast, he would visit members of his congregation to distribute the vegetables, but only after the lady of the family gave him a kiss.

Rev. Keyl was ordained into the ministry in August 1922 and retired in December 1966.

He is survived by his widow, Ida Keyl of Delray Beach; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Schulz of North Tonawanda, N.Y. and Mrs. R. Talifiro of Bronx, N.Y.; two sons, Theodore H. Keyl of Patterson, N.J. and the Rev. Rudolph J. Keyl, Jr. of Baskin Ridge, N.J.; two sisters, Mrs. Concordia Theiss of Arcadia, Ca. and Mrs. Doris Cooper of Thousand Oaks, Ca. and 12 grandchildren.

DEEP

AS THE SEA

Standing in the sand, looking at the sea, one cannot help thinking of the boundless, fathomless love of God toward us. Oh, how he loves us, uplifts us, protects us and encourages us. There comes to mind many of his precious promises and the heart swells with gratitude. Recalled first of all, perhaps, are verses like these:

"Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee: yea, I will help thee."

"Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee." Jeremiah 31:3.

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." John 3:16, 17.

Many more words of comfort await you in the Bible and in the Church as His words are proclaimed from the pulpit. We invite you to attend church this week. You will be glad you did.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Workers must receive minimum

Some employers of agricultural workers are apparently unaware of minimum wage requirements, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

This year for the first time, says James E. Patching, regional administrator for employment standards, Atlanta, "agricultural workers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) must be paid the same minimum wage - $2.65 per hour - as other categories of covered workers."

In order to be covered by the FLSA, an agricultural employee must work for an employer who used more than 500 man-days of agricultural labor in any calendar quarter of the preceding calendar year.

Additional information is available from the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division, which has area offices in Fort Lauderdale, Tampa, Jacksonville, Miami and Orlando.

POLARIS. THE PLANT GROWTH REGULATOR THAT RIPENS SUGAR CANE.

Warm, wet weather may be ideal for growing sugar cane, but it's the last thing you need at a harvest time. This is the kind of weather that causes the cane plant to grow, but not to store sucrose.

Until now, there was little you could do but take unripened cane to the mill. Now, there's Polaris Plant Growth Regulator by Monsanto, the chemical that stimulates sugar cane ripening. Polaris can increase sucrose levels—in spite of poor ripening conditions such as warm, wet weather.

Polaris is applied about six weeks before harvest. Cane treated with Polaris usually burns better at harvest, resulting in less trash to the mill. What's more, Polaris does not significantly affect cane tonnage, and has no adverse effect on ratoon regrowth.

Find out how Polaris can help you bring better-ripened cane to the mill this harvest. Contact N.F. Eason, (813) 481-1337, or the distributor for Polaris in your area for the full details.

Always read and carefully follow the label instructions for Polaris. Polaris is a registered trademark of the Monsanto Company, St. Louis, Mo. ©Monsanto Company 1977. PH/8/77

STAN'S MUDDIE...or just a big mess; it was all the same to campers at the Municipal Marina last week when the city attempted to fill in some low spots so the campers wouldn't have to drive through water to reach the high ground. The rock was no more than hauled in than the rains came, turning the marina parking lot into an acre of soup. Since then, the city has hauled gravel in to provide a driveway.

Glades residents question school board

WEST PALM BEACH—Three Glades residents questioned the Palm Beach County School Board at a special meeting held last Thursday night at the North Shore High School cafeteria concerning the passage of the budget for the 1979 fiscal year.

Charles Ward, delegate from the Belle Glade Lions Club, spoke first. "The only reason I'm here," he said, "is because the Belle Glade Lions Club is interested in public education. On your (the board's) first meeting in June, the Belle Glade Lions Club requested information from the Board as to what performance and/or grade level students were performing."

"This was requested for parents as well as the public," Ward said. "As of this day, to the best of my knowledge, this information has not been supplied. By a unanimous vote of the Lions Club, it is requested that the budget be held up until this information is available. The reason for this is that if the board does not know the specific needs, they don't know where the money should go."

School Superintendent Tom Mills told Ward that the Lions would get their answers by attending their second meeting in September. He said a presentation would be made giving such information as grade levels rather than stanines.

Sam Lovell, Glades Central High School teacher, also spoke. He questioned the large amount of money budgeted under Administrative salaries. He was told by the Board that they are required to list their Workman's Compensation and other required expenses under this heading.

Lovell also questioned the difference in the average assistant principal's salary and the average teacher's salary. Mills later said that the average assistant principal had already reached the salary peak after many years of service, and by going from ten months to twelve month service actually did not receive that much of a pay increase.

Oz Caldwell, of the State's Attorney Office spoke in behalf of Bert Ward, teacher at Glades Central High School. Through Caldwell, Ward made some money-saving suggestions.

He suggested some improvements in the summer school program, which included the question of why a summer school principal is needed when the regular principal is working for 12 months. He also said the high summer grades should be looked into.

City candidates speak to Lions

BELLE GLADE—Three of the city's candidates for city commissioner spoke to the Belle Glade Lions Club last Wednesday. In his first brief talk, current Mayor Tom Altman expressed concern for the issues facing Belle Glade.

Altman said, "there are a lot of important questions facing the city. These questions will effect the people in years to come." He said Belle Glade is facing problems with both state and federal laws, especially those of pollution and environmental matters.

He said the city will have to dispose of garbage in an alternate method, and that whatever solution is chosen, it will commit the city for years.

"Likewise," he said, "we have to deal with the effluent in the canal." By 1983, he said, "we can't discharge into the canal, due to Section 308 of the Storm Water Run-off Program."

Two of the alternates involved land spray and deep-well injection, according to Altman. He said the two mentioned projects will cost $20 million jointly, and said "This is an awful lot of commitment."

He also said, "I like tough questions and comments." Altman said he had voted on over 7,000 matters in his commission experience. "There is no way to have been right on all of them, he said, "but I feel I have had a sense of fairness and have made the effort to seek out as much information as possible on all the questions. I would like to carry on in the same manner."

Ralph Kirk kept his statement brief. He said this was his last round-up, win, lose or draw. He said that he would like to continue the efforts he has begun in the past eight years, and "this city has worked smoother in the last 9 or 10 months than ever before. I would like to continue in the same way."

He also said, "I like tough questions and comments." Altman said he had voted on over 7,000 matters in his commission experience. "There is no way to have been right on all of them, he said, "but I feel I have had a sense of fairness and have made the effort to seek out as much information as possible on all the questions. I would like to carry on in the same manner."

did Simmons, although he also said that he felt the rent subsidy is yet another finger of bureaucracy reaching for us.

When asked about the recent update of the zoning code, Altman said, "This is just a revising of the existing code. The present one is unclear, unfair, and unwieldy." "We are making an effort to simplify the code," Altman said. "This is an improvement, not more regulation."

"Anything 46 years old needs updating," Kirk said. "This is a needed thing." He also said that workshops and public hearing are being held for any complaints.

As to the zoning code, Simmons said that he had not received the documents from the city. He said, however, that the whiplash on newly imposed restrictions hasn't been felt by the citizens. He said consideration hasn't been given to citizens speculating with apartment buildings or property.

He expressed his main concern as that of the issue being kept in front of the public. "This should be kicked around and discussed quite a bit," he said.

Simmons also said that if elected, he intended to publish the commission's agenda every week so that the public could know what is going on before the meetings, not after.

When asked about the education issue, Altman maintained that it was a serious problem. "The Commission has tried to be a spokesman for the community," "I wish," he said, "there was something tangible the city commission could do."

He said some of the school problems were local and some were national. He said he wished they could do more.

Kirk concurred with Altman, and said he had nothing more to add.

Although Simmons went along with Altman and Kirk, he said, "If the commission speaks out loud and continuously on a matter, I feel that the 'squeaking wheel gets the grease.'"

"I know it is hard to stand up to as large an organization as the School Board," Simmons said, "but the city commission is showing 14-16,000 opinions." "If the city can back these opinions," he said, "something will be done."

At this point, time was called. In other business, the Lions also presented the golf trophies for a recent tournament. Bill Mathis and Ben Clarke presented the trophies.

Three members tied for first with a net score of 72. After drawing for the trophy, Ralph Kirk came in first. Lion Perry Ridgdon came in second, followed by Lion Don Wilson at third. Ron Sigmon had the prize for longest drive. Jim Humphrey came closest to the hole on Number 13, and Charlie Echols received a trophy for the highest score.

Scholarships were also presented to three area students.

THREE OF THE city's candidates for commissioner addressed the Belle Glade Lions Club last Wednesday. They were (from left) Tom Altman, Larry Simmons and Ralph Kirk. Aubrey Farmer and Nate Edmonds did not attend.

South Bay water bids rejected

SOUTH BAY—The City Commission rejected two bids to complete phase two of a water distribution project Tuesday, one because it was too high and the other because it was submitted by an out of state corporation.

At the suggestion of Public Utilities Director Lomax Harrelle, the commissioners, after rejecting the two bids, agreed to set up a meeting with Palm Beach County Community Development Program Director Douglas Dewson to discuss the possibility of negotiating a contract for the Community Development funded project.

Harrelle said the out-of-state bid was rejected because a premise of Community Development projects is that the work would be performed by local people in order to help the economy.

City Attorney James Gann, at the questioning of the commissioners, said state law forbids the city to enter into private negotiations but Harrelle said he had been assured by Dewson there is a federal law which supersedes the state law and was designed for just such instances.

Harrelle was directed by the commissioners to set up a meeting between Gann and the Community Development attorney.

In a related item which took place in a workshop session following Tuesday's regular meeting, Harrelle and the commissioners were obviously pleased ly surprised to discover the city has for some time had funds which can be used to effect badly needed repairs to the city's water tower.

Harrelle told the commissioners the tower has needed repairs for years and they should try to come up with some money to do the work. He said the job would cost a maximum of $15,000.

"That's no problem," said Don Dillard, the city's financial advisor who was guiding the commission through a proposed 1978-79 budget.

Dillard said there is no reason the city can't use money from a $50,000 repair and replacement fund connected with the city's 1963 water bond issue.

THE BELLE GLADE Lions Club presented three area students with scholarships last week at their regular meeting. From left are Lions Club secretary, Don Wilson, Evelyn Gaylus, graduate of Glades Day School, who will be attending University of Florida; Greg Woodham graduate of Christian Day School, who will be attending Florida Technological University; Sheila Byrd, graduate of Glades Central High School, who will be attending Florida State University; and Lions Club president, Bill Schoenfeld. Each student received $200, after being selected by their respective schools.

NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE

Immediate enactment of coverage for medical catastrophes is essential

EDUCATION

Making our children literate is a top priority. Rankings are nice, but functional literacy is a must for our country and the State.

H. PHILIP YORSTON has been endorsed by the Classroom Teachers Association.

MAJOR ISSUES:

TAX REFORM

There is a need for a law to prevent real estate tax "rip-offs" like those that happened to people in California.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Elected officials answering to the people are a must in an area such as utilities that greatly affect everybody's budgets.

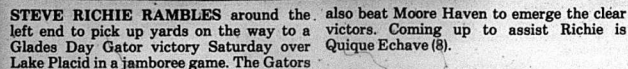

COST OF GOVERNMENT

Cut skyrocketing bureaucracy costs. We want a dollar of services for a dollar of taxes. Cut duplication of work in government agencies.

TELEPHONE TOLLS

Countywide toll free telephone services are absolutely necessary. The outlying areas of Palm Beach County should not be charged for long distance telephone calling within the same county.

According to Mrs. Betty Frederick, league vice president, there are some openings for couples interested in bowling.

Persons interested in joining the league can contact either Mrs.

The City Recreation Department is sponsoring a Fall Overnighter Car Rallye for Sept. 23 and 24, destination unknown, that will take a total of about ten hours to Sanders, who is also the city manager, said the rally will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday with participants staying overnight at the halfway point. The second leg of the rally resumes Sunday morning, terminating in Belle Glade.

Each rallye car must have one driver and one navigator. A pre-registration fee of $40 is required to cover the cost of trophies, a double motel room and evening meal at the halfway point.

If the team carries an additional passenger, an extra $25 will be charged for accommodations. Should two passengers be carried, they would be charged $40, making $80 for the carload of four people.

Pre-registration forms and fees must be turned in to the City of Belle Glade Recreation Department no later than Friday, Sept. 8.

Three rallies have been held by the Recreation Department and Sanders said the popularity has increased with each rally.

The Glades Day Gators emerged as the clear victors Saturday in a Lake Placid football jamboree by defeating Lake Placid 7-0 and Moore Haven 8-0 in the second and third quarters.

Coach Byron Walker had said this would be a preview of regular season play, which begins this Friday when the Gators take on Bishop Verot, and if it was, then good things may well be in store for the local team.

In the second quarter, Winston Byrd rambed five yards to pick up a touchdown and Steve Richie added the point after following a long drive.

In the third quarter, Moore Haven's boycott-ridden team succumbed to a safety gathered in by Bruce Sweet, then a touchdown by Quique Echave from the 11. The point after bounced off an upright and was no good.

All told, the Gators gathered in 250 yards in the two quarters, all of it on the ground. Five passes, the only ones the local team threw, all fell incomplete.

Rickie led the offense with 106 yards followed by Echave with 77 and Byrd with 43.

"I was real pleased with the effort," said Walker. "It showed us our experienced players are going to pay off for us."

Walker noted that the team adjusted "real well" to unexpected moves by the opposition but said he was a little disappointed in a few of the mental mistakes.

"We had offsides called on us three times in a row," he commented. "I guess they were a little too anxious."

The offensive play came in for praise from Walker, especially the running attack. "Last year at this time, our ground offense looked really bad," he said. "This time, it looks good. I'm also real pleased with the defense. They looked real good."

Friday night, Bishop Verot will come to the Gator Stadium to entertain local fans. Walker said he doesn't know much about Verot, but said he understands them to be a very physical team that is larger on the line than the Gators.

"Last year," he said, "Pahokee beat Verot 14-13...it was a close one...and they have a new coach this year I have not met."

Gametime is at 8 p.m. "We'll just try to be prepared for anything," said the Gator head coach.

With the state rankings out, Walker said he was not surprised the last year district champion Gators weren't ranked in the top ten. They didn't even receive a vote.

"It's politics," he said. "Schools from the more populated areas receive most of the press and therefore the votes. When I played with the state champion Raiders in 1971 and 1972, we didn't get into the top ten until mid-way through the season."

The only team in the district to be ranked this year is Gold Coast Christian, who is holding down seventh in A placement in the state.

Gold Coast lost to the Gators last year, even though ranked third when they met Glades Day.

"The only ranking we're looking for," said Walker, "is the Number One at the end of the year."

Come In and Save!

LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF BELLE GLADE

I am very concerned about the 35 % increase in the water and sewer rate that has been placed on the backs of the people of Belle Glade.

This large increase in water bills will not only be felt by the homeowners, but also the landlords and merchants. This will cause an increase in rent, food, clothing and any other item purchased in the city of Belle Glade.

I, personally, am against the new garbage collection system being proposed. I see nothing but added expense. We will have to pay for each container, their maintenance and replacement.

I feel it's time to let the people help in spending their money, also making decisions. I propose publishing the agenda prior to each commission meeting.

The operation of city government is a business. Therefore, being a business man, I feel qualified to implement the basic principals of business — supply what the people demand.

Your Vote and Support Will Be Greatly Appreciated

said he expects results such as:

- The alcoholic, in need of detoxification services will have to go 53 miles to West Palm Beach or 81 miles to Fort Myers for detox services.
- This could result in increased costs to the health care system in the Glades as many of those individuals might have to be transported via ambulance.
- If the Sheriff's Department was called on to transport individuals (under the Myers Act), this could result in increased staff and road time.
- Glades General Hospital and Everglades Memorial Hospital will experience a significant increase in referrals of alcoholic individuals; a burden they are not staffed to sustain.

- Law enforcement agencies in the Glades will no longer have a referral source for the intoxicated individual and it might be necessary to return to the old method of "sleeping it off" in jail which is considered a dangerous procedure. (Thirty percent of all individuals experiencing delirium tremens die).
- Other community health service agencies will experience an increased burden as the drinking alcoholic will once again require their attention and service.

• The preventative measures accomplished by the detoxification unit will no longer exist. Many "early stage" alcoholics have benefited from the intervention service provided by the detox staff, many of whom didn't realize they were moving toward alcoholism.

"Although it is very difficult to put a price on human suffering and recovery," Amos said, "it can be seen that the $50,000 being 'saved' by the Palm Beach County Commission's proposed 1978-79 budget will result in increased costs to many levels of service providers in the Glades."

The final public hearing for the county budget is scheduled for Sept. 13 at the county courthouse in West Palm Beach and Amos asked several people in the Glades to let commissioners know if they support the detoxification center.

Mathis said he has already mailed a letter to Bailey and he said he has been in contact with other law enforcement officers in the Glades and they intend to have a meeting to discuss what could happen without the service of the unit.

"I'm not trying to raise funds or anything," Mathis said. "I just know they have provided a tremendous service for us."

Election

said, "not me, not the other four commissioners who voted for it, wants to pay higher water and sewer rates but there are no other proper alternatives."

Simmons said he was running for office as a qualified businessman. He said there are no other businessmen on the commission with his experience. "If a private business were to raise its prices 35 percent, it would have to close its doors," he said.

Simmons went on to say he has heard widespread dissatisfaction about the proposed mobile toilet garbage system the city was experimenting with until last week and said he believes such a question ought to be decided by the people, promising that if he is elected, it would be put to a vote.

In Group Two, Ralph Kirk said he has been a commissioner for eight years and wants to continue for one more two-year term. "I've made mistakes," he said, "but they've been honest mistakes. If I'm re-elected, I'll probably make more mistakes but they'll be honest mistakes too. I think we've made progress over the past few years."

Farmer reminded the crowd he had 14 years experience on the commission and would like to get back on. "I'm not running for Aubrey Farmer," he said, "or against Ralph Kirk or against Nathaniel Edwards. I just want Ralph Kirk's seat."

Belle Glade's 5,292 registered voters, or those who vote Tuesday, will have a chance to vote twice; once at the city fire station in the at-large city election and again at their county precinct polling place in the state primary election.

This will be the second time city voters will have used the Vote A Matic card punch voting machine and the first time the system will be used in a county-wide election. City Clerk June Boglioli said there will be 40 machines in use at the fire station with two more being used for demonstration purposes.

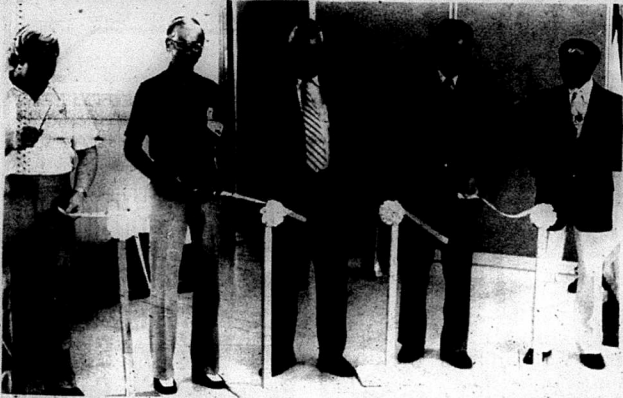

Traffic Council meets

The next meeting of the Lake Okechobee Traffic Council will be held September 12th at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Belle Glade, according to Pat Drake, council president.

Bill Smalley, president of Smalley Transportation Company will be present to discuss his application for permanent intrastate operating authority.

The council will also have an election of officers. Drake stated that it will be a non-meal meeting and that those planning to attend should plan to eat before the meeting.

Drake urges representatives from all of the communities around the lake to be present and to take an active part in the future work of the organization.

GROUND WAS BROKEN Tuesday at the Belle Glade Airport Park in a ceremony involving city and Glades Correctional Institution officials. Manning the shovels were Mayor Tom Altman and Commissioners William Gear, Ralph Kirk, Claude Tindall and Kenneth Harris while GCI Superintendent R.V. Turner (seated) and City Manager Robert Sanders watched from a mobile speaker's stand. Sanders said the park is expected to be completed in three phases over three years.

Woman shot in furor

PAHOKEE—Betty Pitts of 200 Star Rt., Canal Point was shot in the left leg Tuesday about 3 a.m. as she stepped in between two parties outside of Hank's Bar on E. Main St. Paul Sherlock of 3424 Pt. Rd. gave his account of the incident to Patrolman James Wag-

Sherlock said he was walking Ms. Pitts to his truck when two Mexicans walked up and grabbed her, taking her to their car. He said he got mad and told the men to release her. He got his gun and went to the car exchanging words with the two men. Sherlock said Ms. Pitts got between them and grabbed the gun when it went off.

A witness, David Cruz of 543

Burnett St., West Palm Beach, told Waggon Ms. Pitts wanted to come with him and another man known only as "Nirio". Sherlock did not want her to so he came over to the car with a gun. Cruz said, She got between them when the gun went off.

Endorsements

Democrat: Don C. Childers definitely has the experience in this race and has authored more than his share of meaningful legislation in a number of areas.

State House, District 79
Democrat: Ronald E. Giddens seems to be the more favorable of two Democratic candidates for voters in the Glades. He at least came to the area to meet them.

District 80
Democrat: Samuel A. Thomas, while he didn't come to the Glades to ask for votes, he addressed himself to issues more in keeping with a candidate for state representative than sniping at opponents and pushing for a countywide local dialing telephone system.

District 82
Democrat: H. Phillip Yoreston is the choice here, primarily because of his general approach as a fiscal conservative to problems in taxation; an approach in keeping with his background as an accountant.

County Commissioner
District 2
Democrat: Frank Foster is the clear choice in a field of four candidates. Foster is no stranger to the Glades. Although his political experience thus far has been as a commissioner and mayor of West Palm Beach, he has experience in working with the county in his role of liaison between the county and West Palm Beach. He has a balanced understanding and feel for county government.

District 4
Democrat: Bill Medlen does have a record of voting with District 5 Commissioner Bill Bailey in a number of issues of importance to the Glades area. If for no other reason, he should be given consideration as the Democratic nominee.

Republican: Aaron L. "Ron" Sanson IV is an easy choice for the District 4 seat. His primary interest seems to be in creating a cohesive and comprehensive plan for future growth in the county and he probably has more experience in this field than any other candidate on the ballot.

While Sanson is vitally interested in environmental protection, he also seems to recognize the need of balancing that off with the use of the land and the rights of ownership.

"We've heard some rumors Sanson has opposition in the Republican primary, and there is another name on the ballot, but we seem to be in the same boat as the majority of voters who don't know who Norman Gregory is."

School Board (Non-Partisan)
District 2: Arthur H. Bougae has the experience and track record in this race to deserve another term of office to maintain his support of accountability.

District 4: Lou Eassa brings a record of public service, including membership on two committees concerned with education, with him in his quest for the District 4 seat. He recognizes the importance of the school testing recently begun in Palm Beach County and more recently begun statewide, an easy choice.

District 5: Susan Fall is clearly the best choice in this race. She has a past history of heavy commitment, both in direct support of classes in which her own children are enrolled and county wide involvement including service in the campaign for special millage, as a member of the adult performance level test committee and, more importantly for the Glades area, she has been active in getting boundaries changed which will mean a separate board seat for the Glades in two more years.

With this brand of care and involvement, it would be hard to find a candidate to match the caliber of performance and support Mrs. Fall should give education in Palm Beach County.

Fishing regulations are aired

CLEWISTON—A set of four proposals aired in a public meeting Wednesday night on the Lake Okechobee Fisheries Utilization and Management Program would virtually end fish trapping in the lake, it appeared.

Members of the Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission stressed that the hearing was being held to obtain public input and that some of the proposals being made could be changed before bringing them before the Commissioners of the Game and Fish Commission.

The proposals made for discussion included the following: (1) Decreasing the number of trawl permits from 200 to 125; (2) Impose a 60-90 day closed season on commercial fishing; (3) Move all wire fish traps outside the buoy line recently established by the Commission; and (4) Raise the price of scale fish tags from 2 1/2 cents each to 3 1/2 cents.

Dennis Hammond, commercial fish manager for the commission, explained that the bad fishing for speckled perch last season was due to several different factors.

The most important of these was a bad spawn in 1976. Fish spawned the fishery during the run of 1976, but there were so few of them the fishing was very poor.

However, the spawn in 1977 was "fantastic" and these fish should enter the fishery this coming season. He also noted their growth rate is twice what other age classes have been.

Hammond said so far, over 13 million pounds of fish have been taken from Lake Okechobee, the highest poundage coming from speckled perch.

Bass fishing has held up and bream populations are in excellent condition. Gizzard shad were the third heaviest harvested fish, according to Hammond.

"We are on the verge of learning to use commercial gear as a management tool," said Hammond. "We need the help of sport fishermen to refrain from blaming the poor season last year on commercial operations and we need the help of commercial fishermen to abide by the rules."

Hammond stressed that "nothing formal" has been done yet and that the hearing was to gain input only.

He received his input very quickly. The majority of the 145 people attending the meeting were commercial fishermen and they expressed alarm at the closed season and trapping proposals.

Warren Brown of Moore Haven noted the proposed new regulations on trapping would virtually put trappers out of business. "You can't catch fish in deep water," he said. "You'll wipe us out. My group has $30,000 invested in gear now."

Danny Bromick of Okechobee asked that the closed season be in January, February and December instead of October, November and December. Bromick is a trawler who noted those months were the best for trawling but trappers quickly told him the months he was proposing for closed seasons are the best for trapping.

Several people questioned the rise in tag prices and commission officials explained the program has lost between $40,000 and $60,000 yearly and that the increase would make it self sufficient.

Others noted that if traps were moved outside the buoy line, trawls would foul them and a battle between trawlers and trappers could result.

Dele Kelly asked for a shorter work week instead of a completely closed season and Bill Jerry of Pahokee said closing the season for three months would play a hardship with those who have their boats and gear financed through local banks.

Alvin Ward of Moore Haven asked the Commission to reconsider and allow traps anywhere. Explaining, he pointed out that the traps now in the lake are concentrated in certain areas because of regulations but if they were allowed to be placed anywhere, they would be so scattered so as to be unnoticeable.

An unidentified sportsfisherman, who said he has fished in Lake Okechobee all his life, said trapping does not harm the population of speckled perch and that he doesn't mind fishing around them.

David Whidden of Moore Haven noted the Commission's view that only 20% or less of the speckled perch taken are caught in traps and asked why the commission wished to penalize trappers when they take far fewer fish than trawls or seines.

Glenn Hunter, fish camp operator, said it is a matter of dollars and cents for everyone. "You can't keep taking fish out of the lake continuously," he said. "You have to regulate and manage the population."

Clewiston businessman Jack Fry told the group he felt commercial fishermen were being punished for "one bad pole season" and said he felt this was over reaction by the Commission to political pressure.

Fry said he would recommend not going so far in the regulations as the proposals being made.

Another commercial fisherman asked that the regulations on traps be changed so that no trap can be placed in water where less than two feet would be above its ton.

Others asked if the buoy line would be moved closer to shore and still others complained that too many good fishing grounds were restricted by the commission.

Whidden said the commission was not taking into consideration those who live in the area, pay taxes, and earn a living by commercial fishing. He said these people contribute more money to the economy than the tourists.

Belle Glade tackle shop owner Dan May disagreed, saying tourists help greatly with the economy.

The meeting Wednesday was made up largely of commercial fishermen with only a scattering of those interested in sport. A meeting held earlier in the year was composed almost entirely of sports fishermen.

ELMORE WILLIAMS had his day Friday when the city commission dedicated the Lakeshore Recreation Park Elmore Williams Softball Field for him. Williams gives his wife a bus here as she cuts into a cake commemorating the occasion during an open house at the Lakeshore Civic Center.

Jackson praised in magazine

PAHOKEE—Pitt, the recently released publication on the University of Pittsburgh football program, included positive words on Ricky Jackson, 1977 graduate of Pahokee High School and the son of Lella Lawson.

The 6'3", 205 lb. college sophomore "is a fine all-around athlete and a bright prospect," coaches are quite impressed with him, "PITT" reports.

Last year's statistics put Jackson in eight games, making 11 tackles and assisting in four others. He intercepted two passes for 48 yards, including one for a touchdown in Pitt's 48-0 win over Tulane.

As a junior at Pahokee High, he was voted to the second team Suncoast Conference and second team All-District and All-Region. As a senior, he made the first team in all three. He also made first team All-State, leading the Blue Devils with 110 solo tackles, 78 assists and four interceptions.

Jackson is studying History at the University of Pittsburgh. As stated in the publication, he credits his high school coach, Antoine Russell, for helping him in his athletic career.

BY KAREN HANSFORD
BELLE GLADE: Glades Women's Softball continued last week in Community United Methodist Church ousted Miami Herald for its ninth win of the season.

Terry Cranford was the leading batter with two doubles and a single, as the team struck for 12 runs in the first two innings, and then added four in the third and two in the fifth inning for a total of 18. Kelly Teets supplied a triple in the second inning to help the offense.

Except for one run by Debbie Nall in the first inning Miami Herald's runners were stymied until the fourth inning, when Donna Jean Doney and Barbara Morgan rounded the bases. The girls pushed four more across in the fifth inning, but were held in the sixth for a total of seven runs. The game was tied after the sixth inning due to the time limit, with the final score 18-7.

The other games scheduled for that evening were postponed due to rain.

The first game of the doubleheader played last Thursday night in Canal Point, First Baptist Church assumed control in pursuit of a 16-5 triumph over Dixie Fried Chicken.

Rhonnice Cox and Paula Anderson scored a run for each of the teams in the first inning, then First Baptist took the lead with eight runs in the second, one of them a double by Brenda Davis.

Dixie Fried Chicken attempted to come back in the third inning after holding the opposition to one more run, the girls broke loose for four runs with two outs. The rally ended when Rhonnice Cox hit into a fielder's choice for the third out.

Liz Canonici rapped out her third single of the game as First Baptist brought six more runs in and stopped Dixie Fried for a total score of 16-5.

The second game found Wallis Pharmacy, playing with nine players handed Local 2152 a 2-0 defeat in five innings of play. One of the highlights of the scoring was a single which hit into a home run for Cheryl Waters as the ball chased her around the bases, ending in a near collision at homeplate.

Local 2152 threatened to score several times by loading the bases, but one rally was cut short when the third baseman, Susan Moss snagged a line drive and then threw to second base for a double play. Lettfielder Barbara Hartzog made another double play in the fourth inning when she made a shoestring catch and caught a runner off third base.

The game was called after five innings due to the 15 run rule. League Standings as of 9/1/78: Wallis Pharmacy 10-3, South Bay Growers 9-3, First Baptist Church, 9-4, CUMC 9-4, Miami Herald 6-7, Bank of Pahokee 3-9, Local 2152 3-9, Dixie Fried Chicken 2-10.
